Col. Durrett's Historical Collection Goes to Chicago

Short Description of the Collection

The University of Chicago has just added to the resources of the Harper Memorial Library the Durrett collection of Louisville, Kentucky. This well-known collection of material treats, in the main, of Southern and early Western history. It was brought together by Colonel Reuben T. Durrett during the period from 1856 to the present time, and it contains some exceedingly important manuscripts, newspaper files, and books.

Students of American history will be especially interested in the journal of Celeron, leader of the French expedition to the upper Ohio in 1749, of Thomas Walker, the first English explorer of the middle Mississippi valley, and of Colonel Richard Henderson, founder of the state of Transylvania; in the autobiography of George Rogers Clark, and in the larger collections of Daniel Boone, Thomas Hart, Colonel McAfee, and Governor Shelby; in the transcripts of the Gardoqui correspondence with the Spanish Foreign Office and the scarcely less valuable copies of the Haldimand papers in the Canadian archives. These are but a few of the manuscripts treating of our early national development, valuable sources which have been used by only one or two American historians.

The newspapers cover closely the history of the Ohio valley during the period from 1798 to 1860, the most important files being the Lexington Gazette and a Maysville, Kentucky, paper which was generally regarded as the organ of Henry Clay. There are also a number of volumes of the National Intelligencer, of Washington, D. C., for the years preceding and during the second war with England and still other files such as the Louisville Courier for several years prior to the Civil War. These ante-bellum newspapers are particularly important for students who work in Chicago because, owing to the great fire, there are few such files in any of the libraries of the city.

The books, like the manuscripts and newspapers, treat mainly of Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, and the Ohio valley. There are rare editions of John Smith, Ramsay, Haywood's "Tennessee," and the manuscript of Filson's "Kentucky;" reports of state and federal courts, journals and debates of legislatures and constitutional conventions and series of statutes, all of which are most difficult to procure in the book markets. On Kentucky Colonel Durrett had gathered, it is thought, every item known to be in print and a great deal that was in manuscript; so that the University now has the best library of Kentuckiana in existence.

On general American and European history there are many books and periodicals of importance; and on religious, educational and social problems, and economic questions, such as slavery, tariff and internal improvements, there are pamphlets, reports, and public documents. It is safe to say that, with a single exception, there is now no other library in the Middle West which offers the student of American history so much that is new, so much of rich source material for the period from 1776 to 1860.

One of the reasons which impelled Colonel Durrett to place his library with the University of Chicago rather than with some of the other great institutions which desired this notable collection of books was the large attendance of southern students and especially students of history at Chicago in the summer quarter. The strength of the history department and especially of the courses in American history was likewise emphasized in the consideration of the ultimate destination of his extraordinary collection of Americana.

Arlington Cemetery.

That silent spot, alas, may weep
Beyond Potomac's waves,
For there a nation's heroes sleep,
The loyal and the brave—

There, undisturbed, in calm repose,
Their pains and passions done,
Their battles fought, their triumphs closed,
Their final victory won.

No clouds of smoke to dim the eye,
No roar of shot or shell,
No onward march, no battlecry,
On plains where thousands fell.

No warlike blast or roll of drum,
No lonely watch to tread
Ah, generations yet to come,
Shall praise the fallen dead!

Year after year, how grand the scene,
By loyal hands that's true
The graves are strewn with garlands
Green
Of those who wore the blue.

The thunderstorms of heaven may rave,
But under God's control,
Serenely and calm still rest the brave
While endless ages roll.

Sleep on, then, fallen comrades, sleep!
Your dreams of war are fled.
The land you saved will sacred keep
The city of her dead.

—Philadelphia Record.

Beautiful Memorial Day Custom.

The most beautiful thought that has been born of the Memorial day celebration is that of sending a flower laden boat to sea, in tow of a steamer, that it may be cast off and consecrated to the sailors who have given their lives for their country.

The Greeks had a ceremony almost similar, but it was broken up by one of the heroes when he rescued Andromeda. It involved the sacrifice of a beautiful woman every year, and the fighting men of the time wouldn't "stand for that."

Drove Sharpshooters Out of a Barn.

Numerous crack shots of the Confederate army had lodged in a barn between the lines of the two armies on the forenoon of the third day at Gettysburg. Their marksmanship was very annoying to the Federals, and the Fourteenth Connecticut Infantry was dispatched on the successful mission of driving them out. Not only did they accomplish that gallantly, but in the afternoon of the same day they aided in repulsing the charge of Pickett's men and captured five stands of colors.

This beautiful property lies on the south side of Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky, the lot being 60x200 feet, fronted by a concrete walk; a concrete basement under the whole house; arranged for furnace heat; house also fitted for gas lights.

The house is constructed of good material and is well built. It has double floors, the top floor being of hardwood handsomely finished. The first floor rooms are finished in hardwood, the second in hard pine. The building is also storm sheeted and is plastered thruout with patent wood fiber plaster. There are three beautiful tiled grates with oak mantels with large french plate mirrors.

The water supply is from a deep bored well on the back porch. This is a most beautiful home. We are going to sell it if we can. Any one wanting a good home in Berea with an opportunity to send his children to school will find it to his advantage to write to Bicknell & Harris at once. We will be delighted to give prices on this property or any which we have. And we like to have calls also for we can show better than we can describe the property.

There have been some good bargains in the way of vacant lots and residence properties sold on Jackson Street recently. We have still some splendid offers to make—properties running in prices from $500.00 up to $4000.00 right in Berea and just out of Berea. We should be pleased to have any one take up the matter with us.

Yours very truly,

BICKNELL & HARRIS,

Questions Answered

BEREA, FRIEND OF WORKING STUDENTS. Berea College with its affiliated schools, is not a money-making institution. It requires certain fees, but it expends many thousands of dollars each year for the benefit of its students, giving highest advantages at lowest cost, and arranging as far as possible for students to earn and save in every way.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with careful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the best families and are earnest to do well and improve. For any who may be sick the College provides doctor and nurse without extra charge.

All except those with parents in Berea live in College buildings, and many assist in work of boarding hall, farm and shops, receiving valuable training, and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except in winter it is expected that all will have a chance to earn a part of their expenses. Write to the Secretary before coming to secure employment.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, laundry, postage, books, etc., vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the best, but as students must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm coats and underclothing, umbrellas and overcoats are necessary. THE CO-OPERATIVE STORE furnishes books, toilet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at cost.

LIVING EXPENSES are really below cost. The College asks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for cleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding and towels. For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week, in the fall, and $1.60 in winter. For furnished room, with fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 to 60 cents for each person.

SCHOOL FEES are two. First a "DOLLAR DEPOSIT," as guarantee for return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "INCIDENTAL FEE" to help on expenses for care of school buildings, hospital, library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers—all our instruction is a free gift). The incidental fee for most students is $5.00 a term; in Academy and Normal $6.00 and $7.00 in Collegiate courses.

PAYMENT MUST BE IN ADVANCE, incidental fee and room rent by the term, board by the half term. Installments are as follows:

In no case will special Business Fees exceed $15.00 per term.

Any able-bodied young man or young woman can get an education at Berea if there is the will to do so.

It is a great advantage to continue during winter and spring and have a full year of continuous study. Many young people waste time in the public schools going over and over the same things, when they might be improving much faster by coming to Berea and starting in on new studies with some of the best young men and women from other counties and states.

Applicants must bring or send a testimonial showing that they are above 15 years old, in good health, and of good character. This may be signed by some former Berea student or some reliable teacher or neighbor. The use of tobacco is strictly forbidden.

Spring Term opened Wednesday, March 26th. HURRY.
For information or friendly advice write to the Secretary.
